State Frog Leaves for Big Contest

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' representative in a national jumping frog contest in Calaveras County, Calif., is to be shipped to the contest today.

William G. Conley, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's press secretary, said he had consulted with his attorney, Roy Prewitt of Lonoke, and that he would ship the frog, Arkie, by air freight.

The frog won a jumping contest last week. Rockefeller sponsored the contest to find an Arkansas entry in the frog-jumping contest.

After the state contest, it was pointed out that a state law forbids the shipment of Arkansas bullfrogs out of the state.

Prewitt, chairman of the Board of the Arkansas Bullfrog Hunters Association, said Wednesday that Arkie had been caught on his farm. He said the farm had both a frog-killing permit and a fish farming permit from the state Game and Fish Commission. He said he was told by the commission that shipment of the frog would be legal if the two permits were affixed to Arkie's crate.

Policemen Allowed to Use Weapons

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The City Council issued a policy statement Wednesday pointing out that policemen are armed, carry live ammunition and that weapons "aren't furnished just for decoration."

The council said the statement was in no way linked to national events and was simply an effort to clarify the use of weapons by city law enforcement officers.

The statement read in part: "Anyone with common sense knows that the police have instructions as to the necessity and the use of weapons. In the final analysis, the weapon will be used in the judgement of the individual officer carrying it. 'Let no felon be under the misapprehension that weapons will not be used when necessary.'"

The statement also said rocks and bottles have been used in various sections of the nation to assault policemen, and added: "We do not intend to have our police stand submissively by under such attack."

Arab Ambush Kill Four Israel Men

By MICHAEL GROSS

Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas made three attacks across the Lebanese border Wednesday night, ambushing an Israeli patrol at the eastern end of the frontier, shelling three settlements and penetrating to within 13 miles of Haifa, Israel's chief port. Four Israelis and four guerrillas were reported killed.

One group of Palestinian commandos ambushed an Israeli patrol on the slopes of Mt. Hermon, killing three soldiers and wounding two in a crossfire of bazookas and machine guns.

The patrol was bracketed by gunfire from both sides of the road, the Israeli command said. The Israelis returned the fire, scattering the attackers, and called in a helicopter to fly out their casualties.

The rocky area has been the scene of several bloody encounters between Israelis and Arab guerrillas.

Israeli troops killed four Arab infiltrators in a running battle through a forest 13 miles north-east of Haifa, the military command announced.

The guerrillas, on their deepest penetration from Lebanon since the 1967 Middle East war, clashed with the Israelis near Ahihud, about 13 miles south of the Lebanese frontier.

Three Israelis were wounded in the fighting, and troops and helicopters fanned out in a search for other infiltrators. Weapons, ammunition, sabotage materials and food were found on the bodies of the dead guerrillas.

It was the second deep penetration from Lebanon in a week. Earlier, guerrillas fought Israeli troops near Safad, about 10 miles from the frontier.

Arab guerrillas, in Lebanon also fired Soviet 120mm rockets at a school in Kiryat Shmona, in Upper Galilee, killed a 17-year-old girl and wounded her father and her sister, the military command said.

The rockets ripped through the school, but did not injure 40 visiting children sleeping in a classroom. A number of houses were damaged.

The military command said two other Israeli settlements on the Israel-Lebanon frontier were shelled during the night, but there were no reports of casualties or damage.

Teachers Are Displeased With Wages

FORT SMITH (AP) — Sydney E. Johnson of Fort Smith, president of the Fort Smith Classroom Teachers Association, says the organization is displeased with a educational progress in the state.

Johnson told Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, that a majority of the group's members considered him "off base" when the secretary stated that the teachers were pleased with the legislature's "good faith" when it granted them a $77-a-year raise.

Johnson criticized Rozzell's remark to news media and said he should have made his feelings known to teachers privately.

He said Fort Smith teachers "are not happy over the fact that Arkansas is 49th or 50th in teachers' salaries" and added, "We want more than token action."

Rozzell said he had "no reaction" to Johnson's comments.

Not Responsible If Not Reported

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office said Wednesday that a person involved in an automobile accident can escape financial liability if the other person involved fails to file a financial responsibility report required by the state Revenue Department.

However, Deputy Atty. Gen. Henry Ginger said that a person without liability insurance could escape his responsibility only if the other person involved failed to make his report.

State Rep. Charles A. Condit of Helena asked for the opinion.

Walter Hickel at Odds With Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration attacks on young dissenters have been denounced as "inflammatory rhetoric" by the President's own youth advisor and gently criticized by a Cabinet member.

Within hours Tuesday, a letter to the President from Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel suggesting the administration has shown a lack of concern for young people was made public and Nixon appointee Anthony J. Moffett resigned as director of the Office of Students and Youth.

Hickel, who said he had composed the letter for Nixon's eyes only, wrote that administration policies appear "to lack concern for the attitude of a great mass of Americans—our young people."

He politely suggested that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew be muzzled on the subject of student dissent.

"A continued attack on the young—not in their attitudes so much as their motives—can serve little purpose other than further to cement those attitudes to a solidarity impossible to penetrate with reason," Hickel wrote.

Moffett, whose rumored resignation became official today with a strongly worded statement on the administration's attitudes toward youth, was less diplomatic.

Nixon, Moffett said in a statement, "has shown that he does not understand young people, nor does he wish to communicate with them."

He decried the President's characterization of rioting students as "bums" and his statement that the death of four Kent State University students by National Guard bullets should "renew us once again that when dissent turns to violence it invites tragedy."

"A tone has been set by this administration that has tended to increase polarization," Moffett said in an interview Wednesday night. "The inflammatory rhetoric in the air by administration officials did not help the situation there (Kent State)."

Hickel pleaded with Nixon to solicit the views of individual cabinet members on the current campus crisis and suggested consultations with college officials.

Although Nixon earlier had declined to meet with 37 college and university presidents on the campus response to U.S. military action in Cambodia, the White House confirmed that the heads of nine campuses conferred in Washington Wednesday night with the President.

Nixon spent nearly an hour Wednesday afternoon with six Kent State students, during which, they said to reporters, they told the President there is a lack of communication between the administration and students.

Space Agency Postpones Apollo Plans

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee told the space agency today to postpone until next year the scheduled Oct. 1 launch of the Apollo 14 moon flight.

The delay will give more time to study the problems encountered last month on the Apollo 13 flight, the committee said in a report on a $17 billion money bill.

An explosion aboard the Apollo 13 spacecraft forced the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to call off the moon landing and imperiled the lives of the crew before their lunar lander helped bring them home safely.

The bill, to be considered next week by the House, includes $3.2 billion for NASA for the fiscal year starting July 1. The $136 million cut in NASA funds includes $106 million lopped from the research and development allowance.

The House panel's recommendation came a day after Senate approval of a $3.5 billion space authorization bill.

The Senate debate was interspersed with charges the manned space effort is a costly white elephant diverting the nation from pressing domestic problems.

But the senators gave the bill 69-15 approval after a 56-29 vote turned aside a bid to wipe out $110 million for a space shuttle development project.

In the bill approved by the House Appropriations panel, the NASA money allotment was the second largest in the measure, cut a total of $201.6 million. Largest grant was $8.96 billion for the Veterans' Administration.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development was given $2.9 billion, a cut of $63.9 million.

Eighteen other independent offices and agencies shared the remaining $2 billion.

The committee earmarked $59 million of the Veterans Administration money for construction of hospital and domiciliary facilities.

Dr. Mullins Refuses to Close U of A

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

Dr. David Mullins, the president of the University of Arkansas, refused today to dismiss classes Friday as requested by about 40 university students.

The students met with the president today and asked that classes be excused so that memorial services for the four slain Kent State University students could be held. The students also said they wanted to hold a "teach-in" all day Friday.

However, Mullins said he would cooperate with memorial services for the slain students. He said students wishing to attend such services would not be penalized for missing classes.

"I am deeply shocked," Mullins said, "by the incidents at Kent State University, which resulted in bloodshed and the loss of lives of students at that institution. I can well understand the shock and concern of students at the University of Arkansas over this deplorable situation."

Mullins commended the U of A students on their actions in regards to the campus strikes now occurring nationwide. He termed their plans orderly and responsible.

Says Abortion Law in State Not Abused

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — High cost has been cited as the reason for the relatively few abortions performed in Arkansas.

Act 61 of 1969, which liberalized abortions somewhat in Arkansas, allows abortions if there is substantial risk to the mother's life or health in a continued pregnancy, if there is substantial risk that the child would be born with grave physical or mental defects or if the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

Eugene R. Warren of Little Rock, attorney for the Arkansas Medical Society, said Wednesday that physicians feel that the cost of legal abortions "generally made it prohibitive" to have them done in Arkansas.

Warren said for what an abortion costs in Arkansas, a woman could fly to Mexico or another state and obtain it more simply than having it done at home.

man to find as money. The rich are worried about the predatory poor, and the poor keep pressing the government for more welfare and a fairer shake. As for the middle class, it is convinced it is being squeezed out of existence.

A widening generation gap has left youth contemptuous of age and age fearful of youth. If things keep up this way much longer babies will probably soon be born with picket signs in their hands.

We are immersed in a bath of violence. There is so much crime it has become a national crime that we put up with it.

Our college sons and daughters, the hope of tomorrow, are the despair of today. They don't know what they stand for—only what they are against.

Our police threaten to strike, and our schoolteachers do. Parents try to dull their woes with martinis; the younger generation turns to a newer opiate—marijuana.

The problem of how to live is accompanied by the problem of where to live. Rents are going up—like everything else—and young couples complain they can't mortgage their future by paying the interest charges on a housing mortgage.

About all we can point to with pride are a few souvenir rocks brought back from a couple of round trips to the moon—and if you look up at the stars at night the man in the moon seems to be laughing at us for our labors.

Yes, the state of the Union at the moment is a state of shock. The American people are numb, bewildered, confused.

worded document, suggests that Hanoi has been having continuing troubles because of the war's demands. Some U.S. specialists profess to see signs that the troubles are mounting because of new strains of supporting invasions in Laos and Cambodia.

The international aspect is indicated by a demand that party members follow a line of "contributing to the restoration and strengthening of the unity of the Socialist bloc and the International Communist movement."

This suggests that the struggle is far from resolved at the top level. For years there have been signs of a Hanoi tug of war between elements embracing the Soviet line and those preferring Mao's more Asian "Marxism."

While the Moscow-leaning Le Duan, as sole signer of the document, would seem now to have the upper hand, recent events have complicated the situation. Only a few days after the resolution was published, events in Cambodia spurred leaders of North Vietnam, the Viet Cong, the Laos leftists and Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk to a summit meeting for which Red China provided the territory, facilities and cheering section.

Peking seemed to go one up on Moscow in the contest for Hanoi's allegiance. Then Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin let go with a strong denunciation of the Americans for the Cambodian drive and the new bombing of North Vietnam. He coupled this with a promise of new military hardware for North Vietnam.

All this could have an effect of restraining the developing power struggle in Hanoi, but the Poltboro resolution indicates, the struggle must inevitably come to a head.

tucky ordered state police and National Guardsmen "with mounted bayonets and live ammunition" onto the University of Kentucky campus to enforce a curfew in the wake of an anti-war protest. Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio called for the immediate shutdown of all universities experiencing unrest in his state.

In the nation's capital, plans by the New Mobe—the New Mobilization Committee to end the War in Vietnam—to stage a mass demonstration at the White House Saturday ran into Justice Department resistance. The government turned down the request to hold the protest in front of the White House but the New Mobe said it would be held there anyway.

Mayor Walter Washington said an alternative site was being made available on the Washington Monument grounds, but New Mobe project director Ron Young said the students will rally as close to the executive mansion as they can get.

Debate on the Kent State slayings spilled over for a second straight day in Congress. Senate leaders of both parties—Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Hugh Scott—joined in asking for a presidential commission to investigate the incident.

Kiwanis Drug Fight Gets Results

After only seven months, the Kiwanis International program of community education on drugs and drug abuse called Operation Drug Alert has proved to be one of the most successful undertakings in the organization's history, according to word received here by K.G. Hamilton, president of the Kiwanis Club of Hope.

Nearly 3,000 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada are participating in the program, Mr. Hamilton said. Their activities run the gamut of volunteer services. Many of them have organized community action programs aimed at drug education; others have led such programs themselves.

They have operated or sponsored programs for school assemblies, forums, radio and TV "talk shows" on drug abuse. They have set up information centers, "hot line" services in communities and on campuses, drug clinics, publicity campaigns, and exhibit at municipal, county, and state functions.

One of their activities has revolved around distribution of a booklet prepared for young people of junior high and high school ages entitled "Deciding About Drugs." The booklets have been distributed through schools, churches, youth groups, and police departments. Currently, more than 2,000 booklets have been given to young people. The number continues to increase by 100,000 copies per week.

Operation Drug Alert is Kiwanis' first experiment with an organization-wide "major emphasis program." The idea will be continued President Hamilton said.

The Hope Kiwanis Club recently took thirty Hope High School students to a conference in Little Rock in which the Drug Abuse Problem was the topic.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Virginian," after eight seasons on NBC and with a backlog of 200 or more episodes, is in a better position to entertain warm weather TV audiences than younger shows.

Some of the first programs of the 90-minute series are being rerun. It may not be much fun to sit through a second broadcast of an uninspired show first seen a few months ago, but it is interesting to compare the old "Virginians" with this season's.

Last week there was an episode in which Bette Davis was having a fine time playing the heavy—a spinstor bank teller involved in blackmail and thievery. This Wednesday night Lee Marvin developed a very distinctive bad guy—cool, cruel and urbane. When the episode was shot, Marvin was a featured player with star status still beyond his grasp.

James Drury, in the title role, was leaner and infinitely less sure of himself than he is today. Doug McClure, however, seems to have chafed little, in looks or in his series character. Neither, frankly, have the stories.

Radical change will come to the range next season. Many of this year's regulars will depart, the name will be changed to "The Men from Shiloh," and Stewart Granger and Lee Majors will be added as alternating guest stars. So much change is planned, in fact, that the film studio turning out the program is exploiting it as a new series.

Change is contemplated in many other quarters as Hollywood moves into production of next season's shows. Walter Brennan, who apparently can't stand inactivity for long, will join John Forsythe's "To Rome, With Love," which seems to have lost Kay Medford. Leslie Nielsen lost his job as top cop when NBC dumped his segment of "The Bold Ones" but will return in September as John Bracken, the hitherto anonymous studio head of the same network's tinsel-town saga, "Bracken's World."

Lesley Warren, who was Lesley Ann Warren when she played the title role in Rodgers and Hammerstein's TV production of "Cinderella," will be the "Mission: Impossible" team. After Barbara Bain's departure from the series, the spot was filled this season by guest stars.

After 17 years, on radio and then television, "College Bowl" appears to be headed into retirement in mid-June. It has lost the sponsor associated with the quiz program since its beginnings. NBC said that unless a new sponsor turns up the show will be off its Sunday schedule next season. John Cleary, owner and producer of the property, still hopes it can be salvaged.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Larry Pillow sang "One Hand One Heart" and "Whither Thou Goest" accompanied by Dean Mooney, pianist.

The bride's mother wore an aqua doubleknit sheath and the groom's mother wore a turquoise and white suit. Their flowers were pink carnations.

At the reception in the church following the ceremony, a pink and white color scheme was used. Mrs. David Conley presided at the punch bowl and Miss Shirley Stelter served the bride's cake.

Miss Paula Sillavan, niece of the bride, kept the bride's book, and Miss Kim Sillavan, also a niece, passed out rice bags. Miss Sheila Sillavan, another niece, presented each guest with a memory scroll.

For travel the bride wore pink doubleknit sheath and pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home in Saratoga where he is employed.

BOOK WORM CATCHES THE BIRD

Dear Helen: My boy friend is 16 and he's crazy about books. He pays more attention to reading than he does to me, and spends more money in book stores than on me. When we're about to kiss, if a book on the table catches his eye, forget it—the kiss is man.

The other night I asked if he had to choose between me and books, which would it be, and he wouldn't give me a direct answer. I gave up a lot of guys for him. Don't you think I rate more attention than a bunch of crummy words?—W.M.T.

Dear W: If even a kiss can't divert him, this book worm is more interested in words than "birds." I'd suggest you either take up reading or look up a former boy friend, until the worm turns.—H.

Dear Helen: Girls complain about boys not asking them for dates or dances. I wonder if other guys have had my experience.

I've about stopped asking girls for dances when I go stag because it's always the wrong girl and the guy she's with gets irritated to say the least. One time about 15 fellows were waiting for me outside the dance hall, and it wasn't to hand me a bouquet! It was a happening I'd rather forget.

You never know who's spoken for. The guys who bring the girls often don't dance, and get together and talk while the girls just stand there; but try to keep them from being "wallflowers" and you're liable to be called out for a "little talk."

No wonder we stay in the stag line. We're scared!—BOB
Dear Bob: You could solve the problem by bringing your own date to the dance, yes?—H.

Dear Helen: The girl who wrote about her lovely experiences helping out with mentally retarded children reminded me of last college semester when I lived in Washington, D.C.

Another girl and I visited regularly at the Home for Incurables there. It makes one sad to think of all the complaining we do about life when these folks are for the most part courageously facing death.

Many of them had no relatives or friends, and our friendship helped them through a lot of lonely days. I came away from Washington feeling better and more worthy because I had tried to brighten up lives that too many people had already written off.

If every teen-ager would give just one hour a week to helping others in any way possible—in hospitals, poverty areas, rest homes, foster homes—think how much might be done to comfort those who need it most! And think how much these teens would do for themselves!—ANOTHER WHO CARES

Largest Rodent

The capybara, little known outside its habitat in South America, is the world's largest known rodent. A full-grown male looks like a gargantuan guinea pig, may reach four feet in length and weigh 150 pounds.

Tom Seaver Leads Mets to Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
And now the envelope please for this year's Cy Young Award winner.

Would you believe Tom Seaver again? He has the vote of Los Angeles' Manager Walt Alston and probably some of his players.

"Seaver is tops with no questions," Alston said after the New York Mets' Cy Young winner of 1969 beat his Dodgers 5-4 Wednesday night in cold, blustery Shea Stadium.

Although Seaver needed ninth-inning relief help, he picked up his sixth victory this season and 16th in succession over two years in regular season play.

"He's tough out there in any weather," said Alston. "But we battled him. Our kids sure as heck fought back."

Hank Aaron crashed his 11th homer and Phil Niekro pitched a five-hitter as Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 3-0 for its ninth straight and Philadelphia rallied to edge San Diego 4-3 in the night's only other games. Snow halted San Francisco at Montreal.

In the American League, New York beat Oakland 7-6; Baltimore turned back Kansas City 3-1; Detroit stopped Minnesota 5-2; Chicago tripped Cleveland 2-1; Milwaukee defeated Boston 4-3 and California defeated Washington 4-2.

Reliever Ron Taylor said he felt he "was in for a night off" with Seaver going against the hitting-poor Dodgers. Seaver has lost only once to them in his career.

Leading 5-1, Seaver opened the ninth with his eighth strikeout. But then he came unglued with a walk to Wes Parker, a single by Bill Sudakis and a three-run homer by Willie Crawford.

An infield single by Billy Grabarkewitz and a bloop hit to right by Ted Sizemore followed and Seaver gave way to Taylor. He got the last two outs.

The victory was Seaver's seventh straight over the Dodgers and his ninth in 10 lifetime decisions.

Seaver Wins Tennis Tourney

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Robert Seaver, commissioner of Correction, has won the table tennis tournament at the prison here between officials and inmates.

The Pea Pickers Picayune, the inmate newspaper, said that "with agility and extreme dexterity (we use the terms loosely), the commissioner won all but one game but what he describes as an innumerable margin."

Outclassed Blues Face Bruins Tonight

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — His team is on the ropes and staggering badly, much like a fighter out on his feet, but Scotty Bowman, coach of the St. Louis Blues, is going down with his head held high.

Bowman's club, obviously overmatched, plays the Boston Bruins tonight in the third game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup Finals. The Blues lost the first two games at home and most observers will be stunned if they don't drop the next and the series here, where the Bruins are virtually unbeatable.

The first two games were one-sided affairs and Bowman is the first one to admit that his club really hasn't been in the series.

"Let's face it," said Bowman, "we just haven't got it. Boston is a better team. I'm a realist about the whole thing."

Bowman's refreshing candor is an unusual quality in the coaching profession, but Bowman is an unusual guy. He pulls no punches. He doesn't try to paint a rosy picture out of a grim, gray landscape. And nothing was ever grimmer for the Blues than their situation today.

The Bruins are soaring. They have won eight straight games in the playoffs, something they never managed during the regular season. And they play the next two at home, where they have lost only three times in 43 starts this season.

If that's not grim enough, consider that the Blues, appearing in the Stanley Cup finals for the third straight year, have yet to win a game in the championship round. St. Louis was swept in four straight by Montreal in each of the previous two seasons, and the opening two losses to Boston left them with a 10-game final-round losing streak. "Boston is a lot tougher than Montreal," said Bowman, and bigger too. I don't know if we're any better, just three years older."

Ironically, the Blues' first run at the Cup in 1968 was the closest they've come. All of Montreal's victories that year came by one goal and two of the games went overtime. Last season, the Canadiens won a bit more comfortably, but the games still were close. This time against Boston, it has been no contest.

The first game was won by the Bruins 6-1, with a four-goal flurry in the third period. Afterwards Bowman, always the honest man, said he didn't think the teams that day was five goals. He was right. It was a game for two periods.

The second game went to Boston 6-2, but it was more one-sided than the opener, with the Bruins completely controlling play. Afterwards Harry Sinden, Boston's coach, parroted Bowman's first-game comment, saying he didn't think the difference between the two teams that night was four goals.

Aaron's two-run homer, 565th of his career, sent the Braves to a 2-0 lead in the opening inning and that was all Niekro needed to record his third victory in seven decisions.

Rico Carty extended his hitting streak to 25 games with a sixth-inning double that drove in Aaron with the Braves' other run. Aaron was on base with a single, his 2,988th lifetime hit. Niekro: "I threw only seven or eight fast balls, the rest were knucklers."

"I got ahead of most of the hitters and when I got behind, I could still get it over when I had to," said Niekro, who threw 128 pitches. "Yes, it's the best I've pitched this year."

It was Niekro's second shut-out over the Pirates this year. He held them hitless for 6 2/3 innings last April 18 at Pittsburgh and wound up with a two-hitter. Deron Johnson tied the score with an eighth-inning homer and Philadelphia pushed across the winning run on Ron Herbel's bases-loaded wild pitch to beat San Diego.

Pacers Win E. Division Playoffs

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Indiana Pacers will be back again this year for the championship series in the American Basketball Association.

The Pacers, 117-103 winners over Kentucky Wednesday night to take the Eastern Division playoffs four games to one, will meet the victor of the Western Division at a date yet to be set.

Los Angeles, with a 3-1 lead in the Western playoffs, will play at Denver Saturday afternoon. The game will be televised by CBS.

Oakland defeated Indiana for the ABA title last year 4-1.

The Pacers, after trailing Kentucky by 10 points in the first quarter Wednesday night, began pulling ahead in the third, following a 55-51 halftime lead.

The lead changed three times in early minutes of the third before Roger Brown sparked a drive that opened a 90-75 Indiana lead in the first three minutes of the final stanza.

Brown topped all scoring with 28 points while teammates Mel Daniels added 24 and Freddie Lewis 23. Gene Moore was leading scorer for the Colonels with 25 points. Daniels also grabbed 22 rebounds.

The Pacers won four straight against Kentucky, a 114-110 winner in overtime in the opener. Indiana swept the semifinals with Carolina 4-0.

"What really won it for us Coach Bob Leonard. "We moved them out in the third quarter and that put us in."

Leonard had high praise for both his own Bill Keller and Kentucky's Louis Dampier. Keller, who guarded Dampier, had 16 points to eight for the Colonels.

"I can't say anything bad about Louis Dampier. He had the heat on him all year and produced," Leonard said. "He went full steam every game; he was tired. But I can't say anything bad about Billy Keller either. He played fantastic defense."

Pacer Tom Thacker summed up for his teammates the next task: "Four more like last was are fronting," said Pacer's night's and we're No. 1."

Rebels Blank Arkansas State

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The University of Mississippi blanked Arkansas State University 5-0 here Wednesday.

The Rebels scored two runs in the fourth on three hits and two more in the fifth on John Shaw's triple, a hit batsman and two sacrifice flies. Mississippi added a run in the sixth when Tommy McGee doubled and scored on an Indian error.

Q—My daughter, 23, gets only five hours of sleep every night. She says she feels fine. Can this be harmful in later years?

A—Some persons get along on less sleep than others. So long as your daughter's weight is normal, she feels well and shows no signs of undue nervous tension, there is no need to worry.

Q—I am 50 and have had insomnia all my adult life. For two years I have been taking sleeping pills every night. Could they affect my heart or have any other bad effects?

A—Sleeping pills, including the barbiturates which are habit forming, will not affect your heart if taken in the usually prescribed dosage. Their chief disadvantage is that they interfere with the normal dreaming everyone does.

An electric sleep inducer, marketed in Germany and called Dormed, consists of a set of electrodes fitted to a padded eye shield. Two of the electrodes rest gently on the eyelids and two behind the ears. They are connected to a generator that sends a weak, painless, soothing current through the head in rhythmic pulsations.

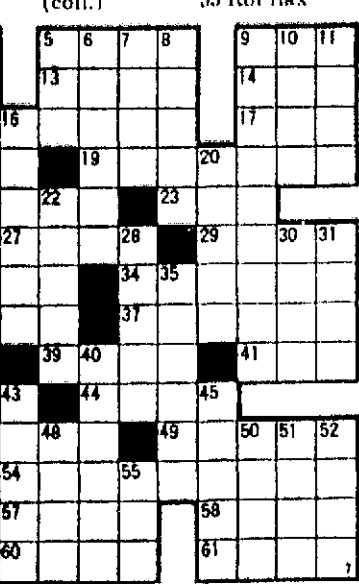

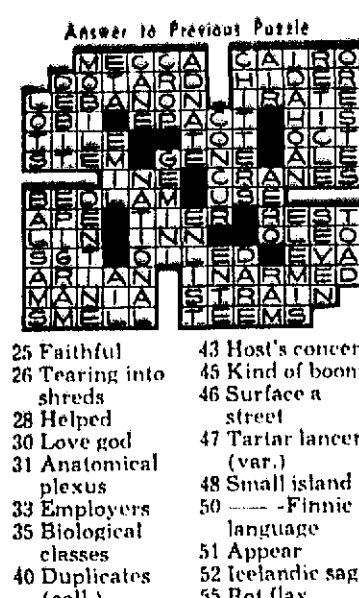

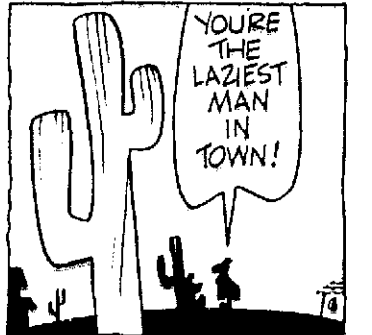

It has been tested on several thousand patients with good results in some, but not all, cases. Its chief advantages are absence of side effects and no danger of habituation.

Q—I am a poor sleeper and have taken Doriden about twice a week for five years. Will I become addicted to it? Has it any bad side effects?

A—Glutethimide (Doriden) is not a barbiturate. Although it does not cause true addiction, it may cause psychic dependence. Its side effects include skin rash, nausea and blood disorders. Anyone taking the drug regularly should have periodic blood counts.

Q—I have heard that for sound sleep one's head must be at the south end of a bed in a north-south position. Is this true?

A—No. But persons who are disturbed by such superstitions might convince themselves that it is.

Q—What would cause a person to moan and groan in his sleep and what can be done to stop it?

A—This is a sign of excessive worry or undue nervous fatigue. The victim is usually helped by avoiding such excitement as violent TV shows or reading horror stories before retiring or by getting to bed before he becomes so tired he can't keep his eyes open.

DEVOTIONAL HELD AT HOPEWELL ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Devotional services were held at Hopewell Elementary School Tuesday, May 5, 1970, with the Rev. James Simmons, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, speaker.

The theme of the message was "Love" and the kinds of love we exemplify daily. Rev. Simmons told three stories to the audience to simplify as well as magnify the abundance of God's love. The first parable compared the shepherd's love for the one sheep that was lost to God's love for us, no matter how meager our beginnings or how varied our environments. The second parable was centered on the woman who had ten coins but discovered after counting her coins, she only had nine. This constituted placing the nine in a safe place and searching for the lost coin. Upon finding it, she called the neighbors in to help her rejoice. Again, it was stressed that God loves and needs us, even as she loved and needed the coin. The last parable showed the prodigal son and the need for youth to be less extravagant. Even in his spendthrift endeavors and the loss of all his worldly goods, he was welcomed and loved by his father. Even so, we were told, God loves us. Rev. Simmons climaxed the devotional with the Scripture, John 3:16, and prayer.

According to Mrs. J.M. McGhee, Assistant Principal of Hopewell, the service was impressive, and the student body expressed the desire to have Rev. Simmons back.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

Track Meet Is Canceled

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The West Coast Relays, prestigious track meet which regularly attracts world prominent athletes, has been canceled in connection with closure of colleges and universities throughout California.

The order canceling the big event came Wednesday from Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California State College System in compliance with Gov. Ronald Reagan's request that all campuses be shut down in the wake of nationwide disorders.

The 44th running of the relays had been scheduled this weekend at Fresno State College's Ratcliffe Stadium, where it had been held annually. A college spokesman said there "won't be time to reschedule the event this year."

Among those scheduled to compete this year had been Olympic gold medalist Lee Evans in the 440-yard run, shot putter Randy Matson, discus thrower Jay Silvester and the crack medley relay teams from Villanova, Texas at El Paso and Houston University.

The meet was one of more than 20 sports events cancelled in California in the wake of Reagan's request, including the Pacific Coast Athletic Association tennis championships at San Jose State College.

Hemophillia Chapter Set Up in State

By FRED MORROW
Pine Bluff Commercial
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—It was 40 miles to the doctor's office.

At the office, the doctor pricked one of Jacob's toes to get a blood smear during a routine checkup.

By the time Jacob had returned the 40 miles to his home his sock and shoe were completely saturated with blood.

Jacob is a hemophiliac.

Hemophillia is a shadowy, unpublished blood disease that is sometime referred to as the "disease of bluebloods" because of its prevalence among the royal families of Europe.

Hemophillia is a disease of the blood in which a vital clotting factor is missing. A hemophiliac is a person, who once is cut or bruised, finds it difficult to stop bleeding.

The disease, which is transmitted by the female to male children is usually detected shortly after birth. Although in some cases, the condition may go unnoticed for several years.

For those parents who have children afflicted with the disease it can be, to say the least, a problem for them as well as the child.

J. C. Cantrell can vouch for that—as the father of Jacob.

Cantrell was one of the instigators in starting a hemophillia organization in Arkansas. The group was formed in 1968 and Cantrell is now president of the Arkansas Foundation Hemophillia Chapter. He is also a regional director for the National Hemophillia Foundation, headquartered in New York City.

A native of England, Ark., Cantrell shakes his head when asked of the various problems a parent encounters in rearing a boy afflicted with the disease.

Cantrell says foam-rubber padding was sewed inside Jacob's clothing to protect him from bruising, which results in internal bleeding. Internal bleeding is more dangerous to a hemophiliac than external bleeding and most hemophiliacs bruise easily.

Despite the precautions a parent may take with a child that is a hemophiliac, it usually becomes an expensive matter rearing him.

Outside of the regular hospital checkups, Jacob has been in the hospital several times, according to Cantrell. From running a flyswat into the roof of his mouth, to biting his tongue, to being bruised by a doctor's forceps at the time of his birth and to having a blood vessel burst inside his mouth as the result of a sore throat and a high fever are just some of the problems that have plagued Jacob.

Cantrell says he has never spent less than $3,000 a year on medical expenses for Jacob, who is now 13 years old.

The critical stage for hemophiliacs is the first 15 years of life. The infancy stage and toddler stage are very critical, Cantrell says, because they don't know how to protect themselves.

Many hemophiliacs soon become cripples.

This is a result from bleeding in the joints, Cantrell says. A hemophiliac must begin therapy as soon as the bleeding in the joint stops. If not he will close the use of the joint, Cantrell said.

Cantrell says estimates indicate there are around 200,000 hemophiliacs in America today.

Presently, there is no known cure for hemophillia, but there are treatments.

The threatment is to give a hemophiliac enough transfusions of cryoprecipitate, which is the clotting factor of a pint of blood, to build up the coagulation factor in his blood.

The only problem with this, Cantrell says, is that to receive two units of blood every other day for a year would cost in the neighborhood of $21,000.

Cantrell urges more people to give blood and points out that a hemophiliac needs only a small portion of a unit of blood. A unit is slightly less than a pint.

Dog Races to Cost State $2.7 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Max Milam, director of the state Administration Department, said today if dog races are not started before July 1 in West Memphis "we are in trouble."

Southland Racing Corp., which operates the greyhound track at West Memphis, has requested a May 29 starting date but the dates were rejected Tuesday by the state Racing Commission.

The state received $2.7 million in taxes from the track last year with $2.2 million going in general revenues.

Milam said his staff is analyzing the state's financial situation and probably would be able to give a report on it Thursday. He said it did not look good.

The track starts paying its state tax from mutual handle the day the races start. The state would collect all the taxes for the month of June if the races started May 29. The fiscal year ends June 30.

Milam said he was unable to follow the flow of revenue into the state treasury and that a more accurate picture of the cash flow is needed. He said some new laws may be needed.

Here is a double dummy hand that might well have come up at the table. South can't be blamed for bidding some number of no-trumps with his rock-crusher, and if he gambled a trifle by bidding five, we can't fault North for taking him to six. Now, let's see how many of you make the slam after West opens the queen of clubs.

The play starts out simply enough. You win in your own hand in order to leave the king of clubs as an entry to dummy. Then you cash the top spades and diamonds. Neither jack drops and East lets a couple of small clubs go.

Now you try the top hearts. This time, West has to discard a club. It makes little difference which one he throws away. You know that two of his last three cards are the jacks of spades and diamonds and the third is some sort of club.

East's last three cards are just as well-known. One is the jack of hearts and the other two are clubs.

You have the four of hearts and two apparently useless clubs while dummy holds the king of clubs and two apparently useless 10s. It looks hopeless, but suppose you lead your four of hearts just to see what will happen.

All of a sudden, West is in trouble. He can't throw away the jack of either spades or diamonds and must discard his last club. What good does that do you?

A lot. You chuck dummy's king of clubs and East is on lead with the eight-five of clubs. He must lead one and your nine and six of clubs win the last two tricks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to curtail use of U.S. combat troops in Cambodia have been defeated in the House in a session punctuated by outbursts from the floor and cheers and hisses from the gallery.

More than 80 colleges and universities have been officially closed in growing campus protests against the war in Indochina and the killing of four students at Kent State University in Ohio. Most activities were peaceful but acts of violence brought National Guardsmen to schools in Kentucky and Illinois, and new clashes to the University of Wisconsin in Madison. Guardsmen continue to leave Kent State, and President Nixon, during a meeting with six Kent students, reportedly promised a complete investigation of the fatal shootings.

SAIGON (AP)—A South Vietnamese flotilla is reportedly preparing for an imminent assault up the Mekong River into Cambodia to open a 60-mile stretch of the waterway to the Cambodian capital. Sources also say the South Vietnamese government is considering an amphibious landing on the south coast of Cambodia to protect a major port and a navy base there.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has been called unresponsive to youth in a strongly worded statement of resignation from the President's youth advisor and a gently critical private letter from Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel.

DUBLIN (AP) — The implication of two cabinet ministers in a plot to smuggle arms to be outlawed Irish Republican Army has raised new fears of another summer of violence in British-ruled Northern Ireland.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—An eminent scientist says massive use of technology can keep the world fed over the next 30 years despite booming population.

Many hemophiliacs soon become cripples.

This is a result from bleeding in the joints, Cantrell says. A hemophiliac must begin therapy as soon as the bleeding in the joint stops. If not he will close the use of the joint, Cantrell said.

Cantrell says estimates indicate there are around 200,000 hemophiliacs in America today.

Presently, there is no known cure for hemophillia, but there are treatments.

The threatment is to give a hemophiliac enough transfusions of cryoprecipitate, which is the clotting factor of a pint of blood, to build up the coagulation factor in his blood.

The only problem with this, Cantrell says, is that to receive two units of blood every other day for a year would cost in the neighborhood of $21,000.

Cantrell urges more people to give blood and points out that a hemophiliac needs only a small portion of a unit of blood. A unit is slightly less than a pint.

Two Trustees Support ASU President
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Two men who have each served 20 years on the Board of Trustees at Arkansas State University issued a statement today in support of ASU President Carl Reng.

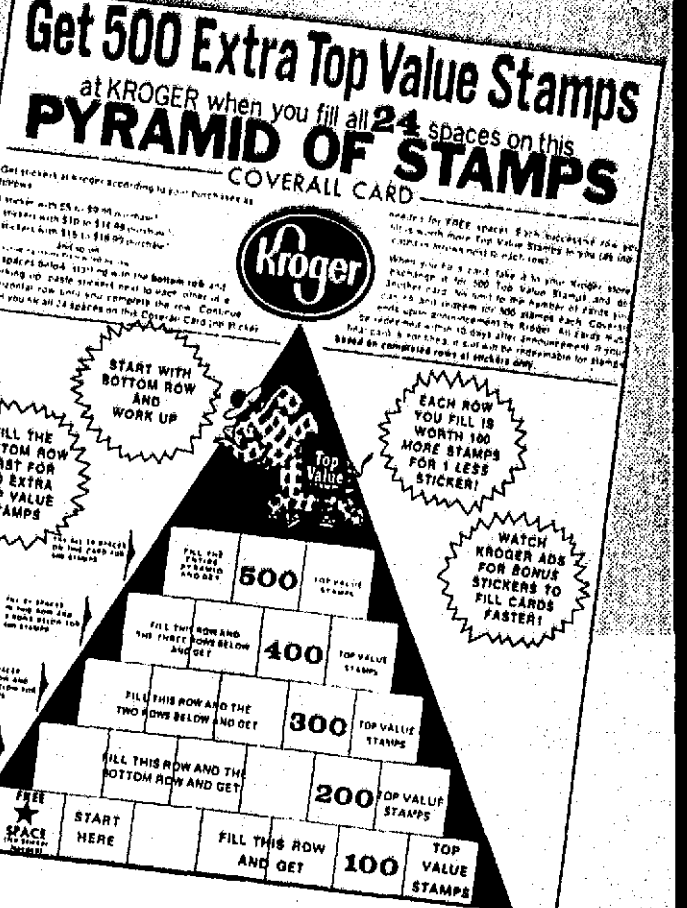

The board and Reng have been criticized by faculty and student groups for allegedly limiting academic freedom. The board was criticized recently for its failure to renew the contracts of two ASU professors. In a prepared statement, Russell E. Owen of Marked Tree and William H. Wyatt of Blytheville commended Reng for the improvements made at the school during Reng's administration.

Both Wyatt and Owen were appointed to the board by former Gov. Sid McMath. Owen is completing 20 years on the board and Wyatt was a member of the board from 1949-1963. The statement said: "During this period, Arkansas State has experienced its most outstanding growth and development, evidenced by an increase in enrollment of 470 per cent; a growth of 239 per cent in faculty; a growth of 725 per cent in the number of faculty holding doctorates; an investment of over $25 million in construction and improvement of physical facilities."

The men said that several ASU graduates held positions of leadership in the state and nation. Wyatt and Owen said that Reng did not solicit the position, but was asked to take the job while he was the head of the graduate school at the University of Arkansas.

"We have been called a rubber-stamp board . . .," the statement said. "If supporting and working harmony with the administration to maintain discipline and support law and order merits a rubber stamp title, we are proud to be so called."
For everything there is a season, a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance. —Ecc. 3:1, 4.

80 Colleges Closed After Disorders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than 80 colleges and universities were officially closed today in the growing campus protests against the war and the killing of four students at Kent State University in Ohio.

Most of the activities were peaceful but there were incidents of violence that brought National Guardsmen to schools in Kentucky and Illinois and new clashes at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Students at the University of Missouri and Syracuse University burned effigies of President Nixon during rallies.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan closed the entire state college and university system today, asking that the 300,000 students reflect "on the grave sequence of current events."

He also asked the state's 92 two-year junior colleges with 750,000 students and the state's private colleges with about 100,000 to close, and many of them did.

"I want to make it very clear that closing the campuses... is not in any way giving in to those who preach and practice violence," he said in a statewide television talk. "This four-day period is support for those who believe in nonviolence."

Pennsylvania State University, with 18 campuses, was ordered closed. Ohio State University was closed by its president shortly after Gov. James A. Rhodes said all Ohio schools experiencing unrest should be shut.

The National Student Information Center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., said 258 schools had reported they were participating in the anti-war strike.

Gov. Louis B. Nunn of Kentucky ordered state police and National Guard troops "with mounted bayonets and live ammunition" onto the University of Kentucky campus to enforce a curfew. But the guardsmen were told not to load their rifles.

His action came after 750 students ignored a 5 p.m. curfew ordered by university President Otis Singletary after an Air Force ROTC building was burned. "My decision was to wait until the campus was half burned down with lives being lost or to act," Nunn declared.

Steve Bright, president of the Kentucky student body and a leader in the demonstration that prompted the action, termed it "completely absurd and unnecessary."

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie called 5,000 Illinois National Guardsmen to standby alert. The troops had standing orders not to load or fire their weapons without direct orders.

Sidewalk Comments of Pavement Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a Pavement Plato: The American people feel blue.

They have the taste of ashes in their mouths.

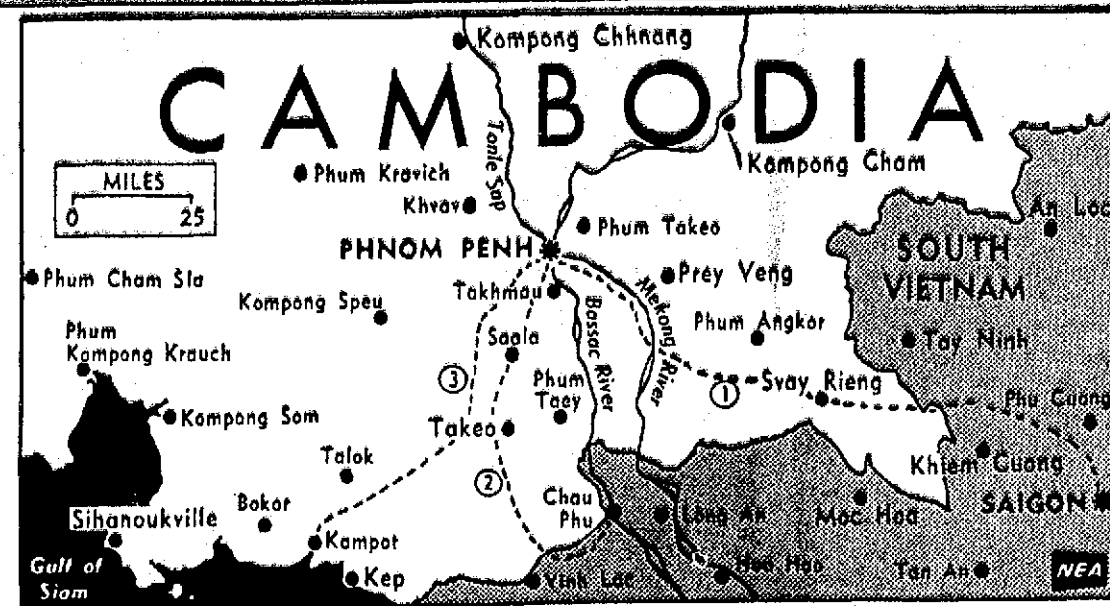

The whole nation is in the dumps.

There is a sickness in our souls.

Who can remember a time when everybody felt so bad about so many things and so few people had any idea of a remedy that would make us feel better?

We are cut up and divided more ways than an apple in a cheap boarding house. We are like a dazed pedestrian caught on a superhighway, wondering from which direction he may be hit next.

Here we are the richest and supposedly the most powerful land on earth, but we are as uneasy as the dwellers in a Major battleground in the expanded Indochina conflict stretches along the Cambodian-Vietnamese border. Viet Cong resisting efforts to dislodge them from long-held base areas threaten Cambodia's capital, Phnom Penh. Key points are major highways 1, 2 and 3 (broken lines).

Says Nixon Violated U.N. Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's legal defense of American military action in Cambodia seeks support in the U.S. Constitution and the U.N. Charter and rejects the suggestion Cambodia neutrality has been violated.

But this position is challenged by a former State Department legal adviser who is a recognized international law expert.

Harvard Prof. Abram Chayes accuses President Nixon of flouting international law and says his administration has no respect for national boundaries.

Nixon did not set forth any legal basis in announcing the action to the American public April 30 except to say "I shall meet my responsibility as commander in chief of our armed forces to take the action I consider necessary to defend the security of our American men."

He relied on Article II Section 2 of the Constitution which provides "the president shall be commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States."

Internationally, the government is mindful of the general prohibition to the use of force in the U.N. Charter. But it notes that Article 51 reserves "the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a member of the United Nations."

Ambassador Charles W. Yost called this exception to the attention of Secretary General U. Thant in a letter May 5. Yost described the military move as an appropriate measure of collective self-defense by U.S. and South Vietnamese armed forces.

To this, a government source added: "When the action is coming from a neutral country which is unable to protect its territory from being used, our position is you are entitled to take self-defensive action on the neutral's territory."

The source, a knowledgeable official who asked that his name not be used, said he was emphasizing that the neutral country, Cambodia, was unable to take defensive action against North Vietnamese forces.

Democratic party rules provide that in cities where a primary has not been held within two years, one cannot be held until petitions carrying the signatures of 20 per cent of the electors in the city voting for the Democratic nominee for governor in the last general election are filed with the Democratic County Committee.

There are no such rules in the Republican party.

Republican officials seemed amused Wednesday when informed of the loophole in the code.

Two Killed in State Accident

EUDORA, Ark. (AP) — Two persons were killed Wednesday night when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with a farm tractor on Arkansas Highway 8, nine miles west of here.

State Police identified the victims as Donald W. Ellis, 28, and Martha Dean Ellis, 16, both of Eudora.

Sylvester Turner, 37, of Eudora, the driver of the tractor, was not injured, police said.

Election Law Could Hurt State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Republican party could capture most of the municipal and township offices in Arkansas this year without opposition because of a quirk in the state election code.

The problem stems from an amendment, Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs attached to the election code bill sponsored by Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell in 1969. It was not intended to give any party an advantage in the local elections.

Here is the situation: The deadline for filing for office in the party primaries is June 16. However, only 25 cities and towns in Arkansas hold primaries for city and townships and in the others candidates run without party labels in the general election. They must file between Sept. 9 and Sept. 19 to get on the ballot.

Under the amendment, an independent candidate in a city or town that holds a primary must file by the June 16 deadline.

If a Republican filed for a city office in a city that had not been holding a primary, the filing deadline would become June 16 rather than Sept. 19 because the city would no longer classify as a city that did not have primaries. Technically, it would be holding a Republican primary. If the candidate filed on June 16, the deadline would have passed without others having an opportunity to file.

The Republicans would benefit from the situation and the Democrats would not because the rules of the two parties are different.

Democratic party rules provide that in cities where a primary has not been held within two years, one cannot be held until petitions carrying the signatures of 20 per cent of the electors in the city voting for the Democratic nominee for governor in the last general election are filed with the Democratic County Committee.

Unarmed Guardsmen Face Mobs

By JAMES R. POLK

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Guardsmen called out to control protests at four major universities across the country after the Kent State shootings have been given orders to keep their guns unloaded.

Troops sent into the University of Kentucky to enforce a night-long curfew were issued live ammunition Wednesday on orders from Gov. Louie B. Nunn, but the guardsmen were told not to load their rifles.

Ammunition was kept from guardsmen at the University of Wisconsin, where students built barricades in the streets and set them ablaze before being routed by tear gas Wednesday night.

Only in Ohio were guardsmen still carrying loaded rifles, but new warnings were issued against opening fire in the wake of the earlier deaths.

Four students were killed and 10 wounded Monday when Ohio National Guardsmen shot into a crowd of antiwar demonstrators at Kent State. What touched off the gunfire remains unclear, enmeshed in controversy and confusion.

Illinois put 5,000 guardsmen on standby alert and sent part of the force onto the Southern Illinois University campus after a clash Wednesday night. But the militia's top general said the troops had standing orders not to load or fire without a specific command from a senior officer.

Guard guns were also kept unloaded at the University of Maryland, where the last troops were withdrawn Wednesday after five days of demonstrations.

The Pentagon's riot regulations say troops are allowed to load their weapons only upon an officer's orders or if their lives are in danger.

Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury has said his Ohio guardsmen, under state control at the time of the shootings, carry live ammunition when assigned to riot duty and routinely load their weapons when sent into action.

Stock Market Stages Strong Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted a substantial gain Wednesday in a late comeback after a big early advance was all but wiped out.

In reaction to the Federal Reserve Board's cut of the margin requirement for stock purchases to 65 per cent from 80 per cent, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks soared more than 15 points in the first hour.

Profit-taking erased all but about a point of the gain. The average closed up 8.65 points at 718.39 in a late flurry attributed by brokers mainly to a rumor that the Federal Reserve soon would cut its discount rate. The Federal Reserve declined comment.

Arkansas Man Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Spec. 4 Kenneth L. Defenbaugh of Cabot, Ark., was listed Wednesday by the Defense Department as among 28 more servicemen who had been killed in action in Southeast Asia.

He is the son of Mrs. Clyde V. Goodman of Cabot.

House Backs President's Authority

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to prohibit U.S. combat troops in Cambodia have been defeated in a dramatic House session punctuated by angry outbursts from the floor and cheers and hisses from the galleries.

Even an amendment President Nixon said endorsed his decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia—and opponents said would give him open-end authority to wage war—went down to resounding defeat.

In parliamentary sleight of hand designed to prevent a flat ban against U.S. troops in Cambodia from coming to a vote, the House approved the amendment by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill.—171 to 144—then immediately killed it 221 to 32.

"I'm not for one of these amendments, not one," House Armed Services Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said in urging no House action on Cambodia. "I'd take the Findley amendment as a last resort."

"The President of the United States is doing exactly right with or without this Findley amendment," Rivers said. "President Nixon is saving American boys and you are committed to the same objective—it's as simple as that."

Then drawing loud hisses from the antiwar-dominated spectators in the packed galleries, Rivers added: "I want to talk about something we haven't heard much about here—patriotism."

The angry outbursts from the floor came when the House voted to limit all debate on the Cambodia amendments to a period that gave each speaker 45 seconds to state his case.

Rep. Donald W. Reigle Jr., R-Mich., grabbed a microphone, wheeled around to face the galleries and demanded: "Have you ever seen a sadder sight in your life?"

Spectators cheered and they and Reigle were gavelled to order by the chair.

The anger in the House reflected the tide of dissent and disorder sweeping many of the nation's college campuses over Nixon's decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia.

The antiwar strikes, marches and sit-ins, which multiplied rapidly after the killing of four Kent State University students Monday, continued to mushroom Wednesday.

Purge by Hanoi Reds Offers Hope

A resolution adopted by the ruling Politburo in North Vietnam makes it probable that there will be a widespread purge of Communists, high and low, in that country.

The furor over Cambodia has diverted attention from Hanoi's internal problems, but it seems likely that the forthcoming purge is connected with a power struggle in progress ever since Ho Chi Minh died last September.

The prospects for this struggle are obscured by recent events which brought Red China back into the Indochina picture. It would seem that the outcome would affect Hanoi's prosecution of the wars in Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam, but the effect would be a matter of degree and of little comfort to Americans trying to extricate themselves.

In any case, a major North Vietnamese reshuffle seems to be in the works. An April 25 resolution of the Lao Dong—Workers—party politburo called bluntly for the expulsion of large number of members found wanting, and their replacement by a new "Ho Chi Minh class" of members. This is reminiscent of Communist reshuffles in other countries, following a Soviet pattern laid down by Joseph Stalin after Lenin died. The "Lenin enrollment" served to bolster Stalin's personal power as general secretary.

The party secretary in North Vietnam is Le Duan, and his name alone is affixed to the resolution in the name of the whole Politburo. This suggests that he is in a commanding position. He is regarded as pro-Moscow, and at the same time a proponent of bold military measures in the South as opposed to long, patient and protracted "people's war" in the Chinese style of Mao Tse-tung.

The resolution, a toughly

S. Vietnam Prepares for Sea Assault

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy boats are planning an assault up the Mekong River to help open a 60-mile stretch of the waterway to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, official sources said today. They reported the operation will begin Friday.

If the operation materializes, the Navy boats will be in for some sharp fighting. North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces are dotted along most of the waterway and control the ferry crossing at Neak Luong, 37 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

President Nixon has said he would not send American forces beyond 21.7 miles into Cambodia without seeking congressional approval.

The operation would take half of the 500 Americans involved all the way to Phnom Penh. The sources said there will be 40 U.S. boats and 60 South Vietnamese craft.

The South Vietnamese part of the operation was first disclosed by the Foreign Ministry in an unprecedented public announcement of a future operation.

The U.S. Command had no immediate comment.

There also were reports that U.S. 7th Fleet aircraft carriers were maneuvering in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam but the intention was not clear.

In announcing the operation, the Foreign Ministry said air cover would be provided for the flotilla, but it did not make clear whether these would be U.S. or South Vietnamese aircraft, or both.

In a related development, it was learned that the government is considering an amphibious assault at the big port of Kompong Som—formerly Sihanoukville—and the Cambodian base of Ream, reported to be threatened by North Vietnamese troops only 20 miles away. Ream is 15 miles southeast of Kompong Som.

Presumably the South Vietnamese are seeking American support for this amphibious assault should they decide to carry it off.

Sources said the American part of the task force in the Phnom Penh operation on the Mekong River will include 38 gunboats armed with 50-caliber machine guns and two 350-foot long landing ships to be used as command posts.

The landing ships also will help carry back any of the 200,000 Vietnamese living in Phnom Penh who want to return to their homeland.

The 60 South Vietnamese navy gunboats will have mixed American and Vietnamese crews informants said. They added that some of the American boats will go all the way up the river, the others only half way.

The Foreign Ministry said the flotilla also will be protected by South Vietnamese troops, presumably riding in attack boats along with their U.S. infantry advisers.

Board Votes to Invest $8.4 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Finance voted Wednesday to take $8.4 million in highway bond funds now invested in U. S. treasury notes and reinvest the money in certificates of deposit with Arkansas banks.

The state is near to paying off a 1941 highway bond refunding debt and the Board of Finance met to decide the final investment arrangements for paying off the debt.

About $12.5 million remains to be paid and the state has $10.5 million in assets in two funds reserved to pay off the debt.

Of that $10.5 million, $8.4 million is invested in U. S. treasury notes paying 6 1/2 per cent interest. They will mature May 15 and state Treasurer Nancy J. Hall said the best investment of the money under present market conditions would be in certificates of deposit in Arkansas banks.
